

7.1.9 Sensitization of students and employees of the Institution to the constitutional obligations: values, rights, duties and responsibilities of citizens

At RCPET's IMRD Shirpur, the emphasis is placed on providing holistic education to students, which includes sensitizing them to their constitutional rights, values, duties, and responsibilities. The institute utilizes both the curriculum and extra-curricular activities to sensitize students and employees to their constitutional obligations. This report highlights the various initiatives taken by IMRD to achieve this objective and create responsible citizens.

Sensitization through Curriculum:

IMRD integrates the teaching of constitutional obligations into the curriculum. Many subjects offered at the institute cover topics related to constitutional obligations, ensuring that students gain a comprehensive understanding of their rights, duties, and responsibilities as citizens. By incorporating these topics into the curriculum, IMRD ensures that students receive a well-rounded education that prepares them to uphold the principles of the Constitution.

Promoting Inclusivity:

India is a diverse country, encompassing individuals from various cultural, social, economic, linguistic, and ethnic backgrounds. IMRD recognizes this diversity and promotes inclusivity by sensitizing students and employees to constitutional obligations that govern and guide the nation, irrespective of factors such as caste, religion, race, or gender. By creating awareness and understanding of constitutional values, IMRD fosters an environment that celebrates diversity and ensures equal opportunities for all.

Extra-Curricular Activities:

IMRD goes beyond the classroom to sensitize students and employees about constitutional obligations. Various extra-curricular activities are organized to instill values, duties, and responsibilities of citizens. The institute invites prominent individuals to share their insights and experiences on topics such as culture, traditions, values, and responsibilities. These programs inspire and motivate students to become responsible citizens, actively participating in the betterment of society.

Awareness Programs:

IMRD conducts awareness programs on pertinent social issues to reinforce constitutional obligations among students. For example, programs on environmental conservation, banning plastics, cleanliness drives, and Swachh Bharat (Clean India) initiatives are organized, encouraging students to actively participate and contribute to a cleaner and greener environment. These programs not only create awareness but also instill a sense of responsibility towards the community and the nation.

Institutional Policies:

IMRD establishes policies that align with its core values, further promoting constitutional obligations. Codes of conduct are prepared for both students and staff, ensuring adherence to the institute's ethical standards. These policies create a conducive learning environment where everyone understands their rights and responsibilities, fostering mutual respect and harmony.

Mandatory Courses:

The affiliating University curriculum includes mandatory courses that reinforce the importance of constitutional obligations. Professional ethics courses are offered to students, emphasizing ethical conduct in their professional lives. Additionally, all students undertake a course on Environmental Studies in their first year, equipping them with knowledge of environment acts, wildlife protection, forest conservation, and global environmental concerns.
